

James Meurer Horsemanship Clinic

17th & 18th March 2012, Albury Wodonga Equestrian Centre

- Are you interested in getting more out of yourself and your horse?
- Would you like to know how your horse's mind and body works?
- Do you need more respect from your horse?
Or more athleticism?
- Could you improve your relationship with your horse?
Or would you like more confidence?
- Are you ready to take your horse to the next level?

James Meurer is passionate about effective horsemanship. His techniques are based on humane principles. They are effective because they are formed by an understanding of the horse's language, psychology and biomechanics.

James works across all disciplines and ability levels to help riders and horses achieve their goals in a safe and harmonious manner. His methods take into account the physical, mental and emotional needs of you and your horse, allowing you to achieve a willing partnership and new level of mutual understanding.

On the weekend of the 17th and 18th of March James will be holding a Horsemanship Clinic at the Albury Wodonga Equestrian Centre. This is a fantastic facility where your horse can be accommodated overnight. Simply book a stable or yard online at www.awec.net.au using Nominate.

Spaces for this clinic are limited. For more information about the clinic, or to book your spot, email us at info@jamesmeurerhorsemanship.com or call on 02 9979 9849
